

Program Objectives

1. Research & development and experiments of medical devices, and subsidies for those activities.
2. Investigations/studies and information collection/circulation on research and development, production, import-export, distribution, placement and use (referred to as “R&D, etc.” herein under) of medical devices.
3. Guidance and other necessary technical support for medical device companies and companies related to medical devices with respect to medical device R&D, etc.
4. Certification of medical devices and in vitro diagnostic reagents.
5. Issues relating to training for technical experts such as technical directors etc. and handlers of medical devices.
6. Administration of the national examination for clinical engineering technologists
7. Issuing required publications and holding lectures and seminars.
8. Communication and cooperation with domestic and foreign institutions and organizations related to medical devices.
9. Other required programs.